Editor's Note: This is the original Okinawa Hai post on Newport Sushi. We published a newer post on this establishment in 2016. We've left all of your original comments in place on this post, but we thought after years you might want a fresher take on the place.

My husband and I love sushi; I'm sure a lot of readers out there do, too. We're always looking for the next best sushi restaurant or an addition to our long list of favorite spots to hit on Okinawa. There are a lot of great sushi restaurants on island and we have visited most of them. We recently went to Newport Sushi; a newly opened sushi restaurant near Kadena. We were excited when we saw our American classics on their menu, caterpillar roll, rainbow roll, Philly roll, volcano roll and fried monkey balls. We were not disappointed; the sushi satisfied our stateside craving.

Hidetaki Takaira is the chef at Newport. He has over 10 years experience in Southern California. He owned his own restaurant in San Clemente, which had many great reviews. You can read the numerous reviews on his front window next to a posted menu. He has returned to Okinawa after many years and now opened Newport Sushi. It has a friendly staff, fast service and a great menu with traditional sushi, Okinawa classics, salads, appetizers and dinner combinations.

Although there were no children menus, we had no problem finding options for our 3 and 6 year olds. I tried the caterpillar and volcano rolls which have always been my favorites. Both were equally delicious. Sorry I didn't take pictures of the food, but for some reason as soon as the food came to our table, I completely had a brain hiccup and forgot about my camera. The food was gone by the time I remembered.
